GOOD NEWS FOR HOMEMAKERS

HOW TO SAVE TIME IN THE KITCHEN

The heart of homemaking activities is usually in the kitchen. Women probably spend more time there than in any other room in the home. That is why efficient work methods are particularly important in this area.

PLANNING AND ORGANIZATION. The key to saving time is regular planning. Have a special corner to plan daily schedules of activities, menus and shopping lists. Write these in a notebook as a reminder and for future reference. Other family members may also be willing to make suggestions if you keep a memo pad handy. Don't confine all planning to one place or time of day but think of ways to ease chores as you go along. For example:

*Think of all the items you will need at one time before opening the refrigerator and take them out together.

*Organize food shelves so that different food categories - vegetables, soups, desserts, seasonings - are grouped together. Selection of what you want is faster this way and, when preparing shopping lists, you can tell at a glance which supplies are running low.

*Have a filing system for loose recipes and menus.

*Fasten a magnet to a metal cabinet door to hold recipe cards or clippings for easy viewing when cooking.

FOOD PREPARATION. A few tricks and shortcuts in this area can save an enormous amount of time. Examples:

*Keep kitchen and work areas neat and well organized. Assemble all materials you need before you begin a task. Clean up as you work to avoid clutter.

*Slice and dice celery, carrots, rhubarb and other vegetables and fruits by cutting several stalks or strips together. Always keep knives sharp for top performance.

*Slice onions before peeling and the rings of skin will come off without any trouble.

*Run hot water over garlic cloves for easier removal of the skin.

*Stick a garlic clover on a toothpick before dropping it into a stew. This permits quick removal of the garlic.

*Snip greens and cut raisins and dates the ideal way - - with kitchen shears.

*Prepare an extra supply of snipped parsley, minced onions and green peppers to freeze for future emergency use.

*Keep a supply of bread crumbs and grated cheese on hand.

*Combine salt and pepper in an extra shaker to save time and energy when using both in foods.

*Use a pastry blender to chop hard-cooked eggs.

*Measure coffee in a measuring cup instead of by the spoonful. Four tablespoons of coffee (for six-ounce cups of water) are in each ¼ cup.

*Mix pancake batter in a wide-mouth pitcher or large measuring cup and pour it onto the griddle.

*Make sandwiches (without lettuce or mayonnaise) that can be wrapped and frozen to keep for a week or two. Allow three hours for thawing.

*Use a pastry cloth and rolling-pin cover to roll pastry more easily. Or roll between waxed paper.

*Dip a spoon in water first so batter will drop off easily.

*Replace caps and covers of containers of foods and baking products immediately after using or measuring.

*Dredge or coat meat evenly and without mess in this way: put flour and seasoning into a paper bag, add the meat pieces and shake well.

*Put several bread slices in the oven (425°F.) at one time to expedite the toasting when you are serving something on toast. Or broil them.

*Make more than one batch when preparing your favorite dishes and freeze the extra batch. Making this a regular habit can save many hours.

*Add chili sauce, prepared mustard, Worchestershire, soy sauce or sour cream to season vegetables. Saves making a special sauce.

*Use pasteurized process-cheese spreads or soft cheese sauce, both of which come in jars, if you want a cheese sauce in a hurry. Or try a cheese soup.

*Put canned or frozen mixed vegetables into stews and soups instead of preparing each separately.

*Stock shelves with different types of convenience foods to aid you on very busy days or when unexpected guests arrive.

*Substitute softened vanilla ice cream for homemade whipped cream as a topping.

*Use thinned instant puddings for dessert toppings.

The Senior Class of ACHS will be known for its many firsts. The first class to produce a "Mess America", the first class to go on a trip to Florida, and so forth. Like wise, the class of 1976 will be remembered as the first class to produce a musical comedy for their senior play.

On the nights of March 26 and 27, the Seniors of ACHS will present The Yankee Doodle. This two-act musical comedy will be one of the many bicentennial events to occur in this historic community.

Written by Jim Kelly with music by George M. Cohan, this play is about the escapades of a group of high school kids in New Rochelle, New York, trying to put on a community Fourth of July celebration.

In starring roles will be Keith Coleman and Charlene Rush. Some of the co-stars include Debbie Morrell, Jimmy Lakes, Mike Lewis, and Ann Sears. Music for this extracaganza will be provided by Daniel Stratton at the piano.

Those in charge say that this is really going to be a hit if all continues the way that it is going.

Curtain time each night will be 8 p.m. Tickets may be bought from Senior Class members or at the door on the nights of the performances. Advance tickets are $1.00 for students and $1.50 for adults. At the door they will be $1.50 for students and $2.00 for adults. Make your plans to see this first for Appomattox. Come and see "The Yankee Doodle".
